Two Men Taken from Jail by a Tennessee Mob and Hanged.

NASHVIILE, Tenn., April 26 .- At midpight last night a mob of armed men, about ofteen, entered the jail at McMinnville, dragged the jailer from his bed and forced him to give up the cell keys. William and Victor Hillis were then taken from the jail, carried on horseback five miles from Mc-Minnville, and both were hanged. Before the mob succeeded in removing their victims from the jail they had a hard fight with them, but were overpowered. The mob came from Van Buren county, where the lynched men lived. The prisoners murdered. in 1894, in Van Buren county, Carroll Martin, at his home, the purpose being robbery. Two trials in the lower courts and one in the Supreme Court have been held, and the cases were set for trial next week again. NOT A STRADDLER.

Ex-Gov. Russell Will Not Run Except on a Sound-Money Platform. NEW YORK, April 26.-The World will o-morrow print the following signed statement of ex-Governor William E. Russell, of # Massachusetts, in response to a question from one of its staff correspondents: "I am greatly surprised to hear that action of the Massachusetts convention has attracted any special attention outside the State. While I greatly appreciated the compliment of an indorsement of my State, I am not seeking the nomination, nor am I desireds of being the candidate, nor do I wish any movement made in my State in my interest. On the contrary, I have already earnestly requested that no such movement be made in any other State by friends of mine. My belief is that it is all important that when the Chicago convention meets its delegates should be absolutely free to deliberate and act clear of all instructions or pledges of even expressed preferences—at least so far as I am concerned. I do not know that any movement personal to me is contemplated. If it is I request and insist that it should not be made.

"It seems to me that our party should enough to consider candidates then. The most important thing now is to make every effort to have the Democratic party take an absolutely sound position on the money question, without evasion or compromise. I believe this is of vital consequence to the party for its present and its future.

I think it would be neither right our wise to attempt to avoid or straddle this question by any ambiguous or meaningless declaration. The time has passed for that. The issue must be made and fought out—I trust to a sound conclusion."

A Boston special to the World, in which Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, April 26.-Never was truer phrase coined than "Democracy is tax." In fact, Democracy is both a tax and a deficit. It creates taxes by making deficits. It will be remembered that about the beast's tan and twisted it violently with both a dark and hands, causing the animal to scream with pain and rage. He was arrested, and indignantly refusing to pay his fine, was sent to the Bridewell. A Boston special to the World, in which the ex-Governor is interviewed at length, supplements the above statement. In the course of this interview, he says:

"The position of President is one of tremendous responsibility. It involes so many things, requires so much of the man who would fill it. I doubt—yes, I doubt very much—if I care to take up the load were it thrust upon me. I believe that a President should go into office unfettered. Therefore, I hold firmly that I could never even be a candidate on a platform that was not in accordance with my own principles. I would never consent to straddle on finances, or any other public question. I should not go into office bound by hampering declarations, restricted in the power of veto, helpless in authority."

"Would yo accept a nomination on a platform of your beliefs?"

"I don't know. I should hesitate very seriously. But that is to far ahead. I tell you in all earnestness again, that first, the Democratic party must settile these financial time the Wilson tariff bill was in the threes of birth, Secretary Carlisle made several rosy estimates of the amount of revenue would yield, none of which has been fulfilled. Instead, the receipts have been running behind constantly, and issues of bonds have been increased to prevent the government being declared bankrupt. The interest and principal of the bonds, which is a heavy tax, that must be paid by the people, is one of the legacies the Democratic administration will leave, and will be a constant reminder of the truth of the saying that "Democracy is a tax." The following statement was given to the press to-night:

The Treasury deficit for the fiscal year $25,000,000. This is the opinion of officials and others best qualified to make an intelligent estimate of the result of the fiscal don't care what other men may be doing about seeking a nomination, but of this one thing I am positive—no one shall go to the convention pledged to me and unmindful of what is best for the party and the country." operations of the year. Indiana Senators Couldn't Increase Burke's and Hawkins's Salaries.

This is the figure fixed by the House. In the Senate the salary was fixed at $5,500, but the two Indiana Senators either had no influence or gave the subject no attention, for the lower salary fixed by the House was retained. Similarly, the salary of the marshal of Indiana was fixed in the House 5,000, only to be cut down in conference to 4,500. The Indiana Senators do not appear to exert any influence like other Democratic Senators. Mr. Gorman, for instance, obtained an increase of $1,000 for the district attorney and $500 for the marshal of his State. Thus the Maryland officers lose nothing by the change. In Indiana, owing to the helplessness of the two Democratic to the helplessness of the two Democratic Senators, the district attorney loses $1,588, which is the difference between his net emolument and his new salary, and the marshal loses $433 in the same manner.

The Senate programme for this week, so far as determined on, includes only the consideration of appropriation bills, beginning with the naval bill on Monday and following that closely with either the river and harbor or the District of Columbia bill, probably the former. There may be spasmodic ef-forts to get up other measures, but the be shown to have been great. The wires to many points are down and but meager details are obtainable at midnight. The pecuniary loss west of Clifton at one point is estimated at $20,000, indicating that the total probabilities are that nothing else of any general importance will receive attention. Certainly nothing will be taken up which will lead to general debate if the committee on appropriations can control the order of business. It is expected that there will be estimated at $20,000, indicating that the total loss will be high.

The Journal correspondent gives the following list of killed: Frank Peterson, wife and one daughter, Ell Balthazer and wife, Julius Trembly, Jesse Ham and Mrs. Halberson. A large majority of the Senators, almost all of them, in fact, now regard early adjournment as quite definitely determined. If the Democrats and Populists ever had any idea of attempting to prolong the session beyond the national conventions they appear to have given it up, and few of them now fix the date beyond the 1st of June. Senator George, who is the especial champion of the voluntary bankruptcy bill, said to-day that he had received no encouragement in his efforts to get up that measure, and that he forts to get up that measure, and that he had no hope of doing so. Senator Mitchell,

The Senators are taking the possibility of a veto of the river and harbor bill into account in their calculations on adjournment. Such a fate for the bill has been considered among the probabilities ever since its passage by the House, and recent expressions on the part of those near the President have increased the apprehensions of the friends of the bill on this score. Hence there will be an effort to so arrange the business of the session as to hold Congress in session during the ten days which he is allowed to consider the bill, in order to secure an opportunity for passing the bill over the President's objections in case of his disapproval.

CHICAGO, April 26.-Frederick Schmidt, a naturalized German and a citizen for eight years, was arrested Friday night and fined this morning for tall-twisting. CINCINNATI, O., April 26.-The trial of Scott Jackson at Newport has occupied five days. Fifty-two witnesses have been examined. The prosecution has about twelve more to examine. Among these are the negro. George H. Jackson, who claims to have driven the cab that took the murderers to the spot where Pearl Bryan's body was found. Chester Mullen, the man who rented the cab that was gone all night of Friday, Jan. 31. will be another witness. Colone Deitsch, chief of the Cincinnati police, who made several examinations of Jackson and Walling in private as well as in public, will be examined. Will Wood, the friend of Jackson and the second cousin of Pearl Bry an, will be recalled and subjected, no doubt to a fierce ordeal of cross-examination in connection with certain affidavits in the hands of the defense as to his admissions in Greencastle and Indianapolis of improper relations with the dead girl extending from early in 1895. It is thought the policy of the defense wil be not to make a strong resistance, but to rely upon chances of error upon taking it up to the Court of Appeals. Others think the defense will exert liself to the utmost. If this should prove true, an attempt ma be made to prove an alibi. The defense wi attempt to impeach the testimony of Will Wood and George H. Jackson, should the latter repeat the story told by him and published several weeks ago. George H. Jackson will probably be examined to-morrow. It is not likely that Will Wood will be recalled until wanted by the defense to answer questions more explicitly in regard to certain depositions. The week promises to abound in the most startling testimony of the trial. At its past rate the prosecution should complete its testimony Tuesday night. With direct testimony offered by the defense and cross-examinations, together with debates on legal points, it is not likely the case will go to the jury this week. The court has already shown its anticipation of a protracted trial by changing the time for hearing the case of Alonzo Walling from May 5 to May 12. The defense will try to show contradictions in the testimony of some witnesses for the prosecution and attemp to disqualify whatever evidence has been presented as to the confession of Jackson by maintaining that these admissions were not voluntary, but were made under duress

A brief resume of the trial may not amiss. Jackson was placed on trial for the murder of Pearl Bryan before Judge Charles county, Kentucky, in Newport, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Contrary to all expec-tations, a jury was obtained on the first day ani three witnesses were heard before court adjourned. Jackson is defended by Mr. L. J. Crawford, of Newport. The Commonwealth is represented by Commonwealth Attorney Lockhart, Colonel Nelson, of Newport, Samuel Hayes, of Greencastle, and Ramsey Washington, of Newport. The case has been on trial five days, and the deve ments have steadily strengthened the chair of circumstantial evidence against Jackson Among the witnesses who have appeared are Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Stanley, the mother and sister of the dead girl; Fred Bryan, her brother; Will Wood, her cousin; a number of medical experts; Mayor Caldwell, of Cincinnati, and two Greencastle merchants, who sold articles to Pearl. Will Wood was given where the body was found, and that hem-orrhage following the severance of the ar-teries in the act of decapitation was the The camera fiend is at the trial, and Saturday, when the judge was not looking, he stood up and took a couple of snap shots at Jackson and Wood. Jackson saw the camera and strongly protested to Colonel Crawford

Scott Jackson's double, Dr. W. A. Young was in the court room again Saturday morning. His appearance, however, was very much changed. Instead of the blonde beard, which resembles the prisoner's so strongly, he were only a mustache. He did not relish the notoriety which he was getting and nesses. What the reason may be is not known. He enjoys the privacy of the Circuit judge's office. He spends most of the time leaning on the window sill and looking

INTEREST AT GREENCASTLE. Most People Spent Sunday in Rending Reports of Jackson's Trial. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

GREENCASTLE, Ind., April 26 .- This generally quiet city divided its interest in church-going to-day with that of the trial of Scott Jackson at Newport, with the odds considerably in favor of the murder trial. Many who were too busy last week to keep up with the evidence laid aside their daily paper until Sunday, and to-day the average Greencastle citizen might have been seen ensconced on a front porch or stretched in a hammock, reading up on the great trial which has resulted from the most sensational murder ever known here.

It is surprising the interest that is being taken in the case in Greencastle by every one, no matter his or her station in life. The ludicrous as well as the grave always comes to the front in a case of this kind, as is evidenced by the following incident: A colored woman who had worked in the Jackson family at odd times was several months ago presented with a satchel by a member of the family. She took the valise home and, according to her story, placed it Senate favorable to increasing the number to six. It is, therefore, expected that the bill will develop considerable debate. The river and harbor bill will undoubtedly be made the subject of severe attack by Senator White and others who stand with him on the southern California deepwater harbor question, unless there is a change of the present decision of the committee, which is in favor of Santa Monica.

On a shelf in her house. The valise would not stay there and cut all kinds of queer capers; it would fall from the shelf and roll about on the floor, and when again placed on the shelf would suddenly tumble off. An examination of its inside developed stains, which the superstitious negro was thoroughly convinced was blood. This incident shows that the low and the high have in constant centemplation the Jackson trial.

The coming week will, it is thought here, bring the culmination of the trial. The average citizen of Green astle is as thoroughly convinced now that a conviction will be had as he is assured of his next meal. Upon all sides is the expression that the prosecu-tion has made a wonderfully strong case, and so far has made no blunders. The evidence of the witness who found the knife cuts in the ground beneath the spot where the body of Pearl Bryan was found was unexpected here, and it produced a sensation.

If there is no error in the trial, it is thought

THE MURDERER'S FUNERAL

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE AT THE CHURCH AND THE CEMETERY.

Parke County's Pretty Seat Crowded

Ail Sunday with Curlosity-Seekers from Far and Near.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ROCKVILLE, Ind., April 26.-This pretty city, the seat of Parke county, was to-day the mecca of thousands of curiosity seekers, drawn here by reports of the sextuple tragedy enacted Saturday, which had spread near and far. Great crowds of people thronged the streets all flay. They came in buggles, hacks and on bicycles, all filled with a desire to see the remains of Alfred Egbert's victims. Many were from the surrounding towns and counties. Some came from Paris, Ill., and brought their entire families, there being many children in the crowd. They would look at the stairway in the National Bank Building, visit the jail residence, Herman Haske's home, Mrs. William Sweem's house and wind up at the undertaking establishment where the body of Alfred Egbert rested. The body of the murderer of five people was dressed for burial about 9 o'clock and otographed. It was then put in a casket and taken to the first floor, where it was viewed by hundreds of people until 1 o'clock p. m. At 1:30 the father, mother, two brothers and one sister took their last farewell. The mother was driven back home to attend her sick daughter, while the rest of the family accompanied the casket to the Methodist Church. Long before the hour of the services to begin the church was crowded. Many people were unable to procure seats and stood near the windows outside. The Rev. T. F. Drake began by announcing the bymn, "Frailty of Life," which the choir sang. This was followed by reading the ninetieth Psalm and singing the hymn "Sin Kills Beyond the Tomb," The text of the minister's discourse was from James iv, 14, his remarks being an admonition and instruction to the living. The casket was not opened at the church. The services ended at the cemetery, where fully twelve hundred people were gathered. Alfred Egbert's body was buried in the northwest corner of the ground. Just south a few yards the sexton was digging a grave for William Sweem, to the east was another for Sheriff W. D. Mull. and to the southeast are the graves of Mrs. Haske and two children. Strange as it may appear, the graves are all within a stone's throw. The funeral of William Sweem will be held tonoon that of Sheriff Mull, at 2 p. m., in charge of the G. A. R. The bodies of Mrs. Haske and the two children will be buried

REVIEW OF THE CRIME. The local excitement over the horrible crime of which Sheriff Mull, William Sweem, Mrs. Herman Haske and two children were the victims, and the suicide of the murderer. Alfred Egbert, has subsided. Egbert lived. across the aliey from the home of Herman Haske, who works in Centralia, Ill., at his trade as a baker. Saturday morning early Alfred's brother told him to prepare the wood for Sunday and went to his work up town. Alfred and Mrs. Haske were heard talking out in the alley by one of his brothers while at breakfast. His brother now remembers the insane look he gave him. and believes he narrowly escaped with his life. Some believe Egbert killed Mrs. Haske before he secured the gun. When he took the gun his mother thought he was going to the woods. He went instead into the alley, where Mrs. Haske was milking the cow. Then two shots were heard, some say three, Dr. W. H. Gillum falled to find any shot in Mrs. Haske's head, and says she was killed with a blunt weapon as her skull was crushed in. The little boy Herman, eight years old, was found dead on the front portico. It is said Egbert chased him around the house and shot him as he an awful scorching on the stand, and deposi-tions will be produced alleging that he was equally guilty with Jackson in Pearl Bryan's death. The evidence of the medical experts was partially inside the door. The little girl Agie, ten years old, was found dead in the sitting room. Some think she was shot in the yard, then ran into the house and fel where she was found. The five-year-old girl Julia saved her life by running to a neighbor's house. Doctor Gillum picked 125 No. 6 shot out of the liftle boy's body. Both children were shot in the stomach and the charge scattered and ranged up in the face. THE MURDER OF MULL. After killing Mrs. Haske and the chil> eral neighbors inquired how his sister was getting along, as she was very low with typhoid fever. He told one woman she was better, but the woman saw something was wrong with Egoert. He had the shot gun in his hands as he came through the public square. It was noticed that both hammers on the gun were cocked, ready for firing. On the north side he motioned peo-pie aside. By this time his brother had notified Sheriff Mull, who, with William Sweem, were cautioned to be very careful when they arrested him, as he would shoot to kill. They met him in front of the Na-tlonal Bank. He motioned them to keeep away. Sheriff Mull tried to engage his ataway. Sheriff Mull tried to engage his attention by talking to him, so he could capture Egbert without violence. The sheriff was armed, and it is not known why he started up stairs, unless to get a rifle. He was shot by Egbert in the back when half way up, fell and died in ten minutes. Eweem was armed also, but did not have a chance to use his gun. It is believed that the sheriff and Sweem had their doubts about Egbert shooting. Sweem was standing on the edge of the sidewalk in front of Hunnicutt's jewelry store when shot. The load entered the right side of his neck. He fell into the gutter and died almost instantly. hed at a safe distance. Everybody secured arms and started in pursuit. The murderer was shot at while going through a field. He walked lame from that time, a field. He walked lame from that time, and climbed over the fence into the fair grounds. The report of his gun was heard, and he was found dead in a stall, having shot himself. The explosion of the gun set fire to his shirt. That also exploded the cartridges in his belt, badly burning the body. He had one shoe off, and the heel of his right foot had been bleeding from a wound he received in the field.

> The above is a brief review of the bloodiest crime ever committed in this county. The report sent out from here, and published in many newspapers, that Egbert's sister had died from shock after hearing of the tragedy, is not true. Miss Egbert's condition was improved this afternoon.
